ALSO

Hoosier Special Demonstration

First we want to tell you about this demonstration. We shall have with us next Monday a representative from the Hoosier Cabinet Factory, here to meet the ladies of Barre and vicinity and show to them the merits of the most useful piece of household furniture on the market today.

We are very well satisfied with our recent advertising of this cabinet, having already placed several in the homes of Barre, but anticipate greater results from this personal demonstration.

Choice Selections of

OLD TIME SONGS

Words and Music

Each lady visiting our store next Monday will be handed a copy of Old Time Songs, Words and Music. Fifty of the choicest selections. As we expect a large number of the ladies to this demonstration, and as the song books are limited in number, would suggest that you come early.

MORGAN HORSE CLUB MEETS.

Five States Represented at Complimentary Dinner.

Hartford, Nov. 29.—The first meeting of the Vermont Morgan Horse club was held at the Hartford tavern Saturday afternoon, with 35 breeders in attendance, the states of Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Vermont being represented.

After Manager Coleman of the tavern had served an excellent eight-course dinner to the assembly, as guests of President Henry S. Warner of Windsor, several interesting talks were given.

The first speaker was President Warner, who spoke on "The Proposed Work of the Club, with Some History of Morgan Horses." Gov. Proctor, who was expected, was unable to be present, and in his stead ex-Gov. S. E. Pingree spoke interestingly. E. H. Hoffman spoke on "The Morgan Horse of Vermont." Mr. Boyce of Middlebury explained the registration of Morgans as kept at Mr. Battell's office, Cassin Peck of Burlington told of the Morgan horse farm and the recent improvements there and invited all present to visit it. Allen M. Fletcher of Cavendish spoke on "The Young Morgan Breeder," Maxwell Evans of Windsor on "What the State Fair is Doing for Morgan Horses," A. F. Phillips of Barre on "The Morgan Horse of the Past," and George Atkins of Woodstock on "The Morgan of Scotland," and R. Van Tassel of DuBois, Pa., on "The Morgan in the West."

At the business meeting, which followed, with President Warner in the chair, the constitution and by-laws and rules of the club as drafted at the last state fair were accepted and adopted. The following officers were elected:

President, H. S. Warner of Windsor; secretary-treasurer, C. C. Stillman of New York; vice-presidents, Joseph C. Brunk, E. H. Hoffman, A. R. Van Tassel, A. F. Phillips, H. R. C. Watson; board of governors, F. G. Chandler of West Danville, E. H. Hinds of Fowler, E. Faddock of Claremont, N. H., A. B. Van Tassel of DuBois, Pa., H. C. Watson of Brandon, J. E. Steers of New York, E. A. Darling of East Burke, A. M. Fletcher of Cavendish, Maxwell Evans of Windsor; H. D. Beebe of Boston, C. V. Kent of Montpelier, Spencer Borden of Fall River, Mass., Joseph C. Brunk of Rochester, Ill., E. H. Hoffman of Lyndonville.

The Dartmouth orchestra furnished music, and the meeting adjourned to meet at the next state fair.

Program for Episcopal Fair.

The Guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd will place on sale home-made articles, including aprons, dolls, candies and fancy articles; also a good variety of food from the best cooks in the parish. General admission, 10 cents. Miles' hall, December 1 and 2.

EYE OF THE CAMERA.

The Longer It Looks the More It Sees Within Certain Limits.

Often the eye of the camera will decipher documents of which the writing had been substantially obliterated by age, says a writer in Van Norden's Magazine. I have successfully copied with the camera the utterly faded photograph of a classmate of forty years previous.

Changes in the pigment of the skin, undiscovered by the eye, appear with distinctness on the sensitive plate, and it is said that ample warning of approaching disease has been thereby given.

The camera takes pictures of subjects which cannot be made to appear on the ground glass and of those which the eye of man has never seen. The human eye can penetrate space no farther in an hour than in a single instant. Yet the eye of the camera will gaze into the sky for hours, looking deeper and seeking more with each second that passes.

Through this attribute of the camera a great chart of the heavens is now being made. In this work distinguished astronomers and photographers throughout the world are co-operating.

Yet not one in a hundred of the stars already plainly pictured by them was ever seen by the unaided eye of scientists.

A Verbal Speedometer.

Every calling has its technical vocabulary, and those who are familiar with it are often surprised and irritated at the difficulty other people have in understanding it. A writer in the New York World tells of an old horseman in Maine who had run over a man and was being sued for damages.

The court asked the defendant if he was driving fast. He answered, "I was going a pace." The court then said, "Now, kindly tell the gentlemen of the jury just how fast you were going."

"Well," said the defendant, "I reckon I was going a clip."

"Well, will you tell the jury how fast a clip is?"

"Well, it's going a fite."

"Now, will you tell the jury how fast a fite is?"

"Well, a fite's a fite. Anybody knows what a fite is!"

A Hero.

Tommy's mother had made him a present of a toy shovel and sent him out in the sand lot to play with his baby brother. "Take care of baby now, Tommy, and don't let anything hurt him," was mamma's parting injunction. Presently screams of anguish from baby sent the distracted parent flying to the sand lot. "For goodness' sake, Tommy, what has happened to the baby?" said she, trying to soothe the weeping infant.

"That was a naughty boy biting him on top of his head, and I killed it with the shovel," was the proud reply.—Lippincott's.

STENOGRAPHERS' NOTES.

Perfectly Intelligible Only to the One Who Wrote Them.

"My stenographer was taken ill suddenly," said a well known business man the other day, "and as I had dictated some important letters to him which I wanted written at once I took his notebook to a stenographic institution and asked for a man to translate the notes. Judge of my surprise when I was informed that no matter how good an expert a stenographer may be he cannot read the notes of a colleague."

"This is a common complaint of men who know nothing of stenography and have never studied it," said a shorthand reporter recently. "It is true, however, that no stenographer can accurately translate another's notes. This does appear strange, but it must be remembered that stenography is by no means a perfect science. In fact, it is most imperfect, and there is great room for improvement. Therefore every intelligent person who studies stenography after he gets through the rudiments of it begins to improve it in his own way, invents word signs and characters and changes or alters those he has learned. As a result every stenographer's notes are stamped by his own individuality, a mystery to another, and therefore, with the exception of words most commonly used, it would be impossible to read another's notes accurately.—New York Herald.

The Era of Preventive Medicine.

The era of preventive medicine has barely dawned. Statesmen are beginning to open their eyes to the vast importance of conserving the health of the nation in order to insure its civic integrity and permanence. The industrial world is not only no longer unwillingly yielding to wise laws designed to safeguard the health of the laboring classes, but is actually initiating of its own volition measures for improving the physical welfare, and therefore indirectly the educational authorities are beginning to focus their attention upon the bodily health of the child, for without this all efforts at mental training are worse than useless.—Philadelphia Record.
